STORYTIME – PLAYING IN THE LEAVES

Kitten put one whisker outside the door, and ran back again in horror. "It's freezing!" she mewled. "I think I'll just go and snuggle in my blanket." "Are you feeling poorly?" asked Big Teddy, who was cautious after last week's upset with spots. "I will be extremely very poorly if I go outside," explained Kitten. "Have you seen the wind?" "I can't see the wind," quacked Duckling, gazing into the sky. "But just look at all those leaves tumbling down. Why are they all falling off?" "It's Autumn," explained Big Teddy. "When the days get shorter and the weather gets colder, then most of the trees let their leaves fall." "The colours look wonderful," observed Lamb. "I can see yellow and maroon and greens..." "They are really fun for jumping!" interrupted Puppy, barking joyfully. "Just watch me!" Puppy raced off down the garden and flung himself into the huge pile of leaves that Big Teddy had made. "This is such fun!" shouted Little Teddy. "Bet you can't see little me hiding in here." "But I can see your hat," cheeped Little Chick. "No-one can see Lamb," said Lamb, burying her face in the leaves. Even Kitten joined in at last – until Big Teddy wondered aloud if any of Hedgehog's friends might be hiding in the leaves. "I think that it must be time to play Sleeping Bunnies," suggested Kitten firmly. "It's safer than leaves."
